LLOYD GEORGE IS ATTACKED BY KAMENEFF

Premier Is Accused Of Hiding Real Issues Under Cloud Of Accusations

DENIES UNDERHAND DEALS

Briton's Chief Cabinet Officer Is Accused Of Taking Hypocritical Stand

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 13.—It now transpires that before leaving London M. Kameneff addressed a letter to certain members of Parliament protesting against the circumstances attending his departure from England. M. Kameneff bitterly accuses Mr. Lloyd George of using every means to delay the approach of peace negotiations during M. Kameneff's stay.

The Bolshevik Envoy alleges that the Prime Minister decided "to hide the breach under a cloud of accusations against him" (M. Kameneff) officially, the four counts being:

(1) Participation in the realisation of Russian jewels in Great Britain;

(2) Subsidising the Daily Herald;

(3) Having relations with the Council of Action and

(4) Incorrect transmission of the Russian conditions for an armistice with Poland.

DENIES JEWEL FUND

Dealing with these charges seriatim, M. Kameneff declares that he had nothing to do with the realisation of jewels, that he had neither in a personal nor an official capacity had any dealings whatsoever with the Daily Herald or any newspaper and that he clearly informed the Council of Action, when the latter visited him, that he was under an obligation not to do anything beyond communicating the bare facts.

With regard to the Polish armistice, M. Kameneff asserts that the Soviet abandoned the point about the Workers Militia in Poland as a result of his representations.

He says that the introduction of this point is "all the more hypocritical" because the Prime Minister might have used it three weeks back, if he had considered it an obstacle to the pursuit of the peace negotiations.

M. Kameneff finally expressed regret that the British Government should have broken off negotiations, "owing to paltry, unproved accusations supplied by subordinate secret police agents."

LIE IS PASSED

Sir William Sutherland, M. P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, declared tonight that M. Kameneff's statements were entirely untrue and that most of them bore their own contradiction. He added that, if necessary, a great deal more could be said by the British Government.

Vladivostok, Sept. 15.—Colonel Isome, the chief of the Japanese mission, telegraphs from Udinsk that M. Krassoshchekoff stated in the course of an interview that Verdhne-Udinsk was politically and militarily independent, although economically it was working with Soviet Russia. Its relations were the same with other foreign countries.

The inhabitants of Nerchinsk and Stretinsk are holding meetings and electing members from the various unions, thus forming a Government which resembles that of the Soviet.

It is rumored that Ataman Semenoff is hurriedly transferring troops from Manchuria to Chita, owing to the growing ultra-Radical tendencies of the population.

SOVIET IS REJECTED

London, Sept. 14.—The National Executive of the Labor Party has refused an application for affiliation by the new Communist party, which advocates the Soviet system, the dictatorship of the proletariat and adherence to the third international.

Japanese Government's Policies Are Blamed For Financial Crisis

Former Minister Of Finance Declares Only Solution Of Ill Feeling Is To Appeal To American Spirit Of Fair Play

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, September 14.—Mr. Wakatsuki, ex-Finance Minister, in the course of an article in the Asahi, says he anticipates continued financial depression as the result of the wrong governmental policies.

He says the only solution for anti-Japanese feeling is an appeal to American fairness and humanity.

CRISIS IS CHRONIC

Tokio, (by mail).—The Japanese financial crisis, which suddenly developed in April, has since become chronic, and the depression is particularly felt in the textile trades. The transactions on the Osaka Sampin Exchange clearly indicate the great change which has taken place since the early part of this year.

The Sampin Exchange may be regarded as the center of the cotton trade in Japan and occupies a position similar to that of the Manchester Royal Exchange.

(It may here be noted that the name Sampin signifies "three commodities," namely, cotton yarn, cotton cloth and raw cotton, and not cotton yarn as is frequently erroneously assumed by foreigners, though actually no business is transacted except in cotton yarn on this exchange).

For the past two months, prices have ranged slightly over 300 yen per bale of 400 lbs. but, in the early part of this year they were more than double the present rates.

During April there were very violent fluctuations and the range of prices extended over 200 yen.

This was the turning point and ever since the tendency has been downward, now having about struck the bottom.

FORMER PRICE RECORDS

The lowest price ever recorded on this Exchange was in December, 1914, when it was as low as Y. 85.95. This, of course, was due to the outbreak of the war.

The high water mark was reached in November last year, when November delivery went up as high as Y. 727.80.

The last year was the record year not only in the matter of high prices, but also in the volume of business transacted on this Exchange. Sales often amounted to 100,000 bales a day, whereas recently the daily turnover has not averaged more than 30,000 bales.

The total sales last year were 6,634,790 bales or 3,298,000,000 yen. This is, of course, far in excess of the total annual production of cotton yarn in all Japan, which is about 1,800,000 bales.

It may be imagined from this how the speculative fever raged in Japan last year.

DEALINGS IN FUTURES

These, however, were merely dealings in futures, which were comparatively small. The business in actual cotton yarn transacted among producers, jobbers and dealers outside the Exchange was immense and beyond all calculation. The same stock was sold and resold hundreds of times. Not only this, they went far into forward deliveries, as far ahead as 20 months in many cases and this was kept up until the great slump set in this year.

In April this year, the cotton yarn merchants found themselves loaded with huge forward contracts, running up into hundreds of millions of yen. These were made at top prices, but almost overnight prices were reduced to one half. If all these contracts were faithfully carried out, all the cotton yarn houses in Osaka would be in the hands of receivers.

Most of these cotton yarn houses in Osaka are well established concerns. They supply cotton yarns to the weavers in the country. They are all large stock holders of leading spinning companies. Many of them deal in cotton cloths, as well as yarns. Since the war, many of them have entered into the export business, and they are active in China.

EXCHANGE AND CAPITAL

The Exchange recently secured the permission of the Government to increase its capital to 5,000,000 yen, and they had intended to build a magnificent exchange building, but this plan is temporarily postponed owing to business depression.

The official quotations made on this Exchange rule the business transacted outside the Exchange. In fact, they rule the markets for all cotton manufacturers throughout Japan. Even the markets in China and India are influenced by the Sampin quotations.

In turn the Sampin Exchange is influenced by foreign markets, particularly by the New York cotton market and the London bar silver quotations. The latter is, of course, on account of the trade with China and India.

The Indian cotton market is also a considerable factor in the Sampin Exchange. Operators also take keen interest in the Manchester cotton cloths and yarn markets, as well as the Liverpool cotton market. In fact they follow all the foreign economic conditions very closely. The demoralisation of the New York Stock market, for instance would immediately create a like effect on this market.

REBELS HOLD UP CANTON TRAFFIC

(Reuter's Service)

Canton, Sept. 14.—The shipping traffic between Heungshan and Canton is interrupted through the revolutionists at Heungshan having gained control of the principal towns.

The Canton Government is asking merchants to pay likin in advance at a discount of 20 to 25 percent. It is also accepting Bank of China notes, which are much below par, in payment of Government dues.

Kwangsi troops are being rushed to Kwangtung. The Administrative forces are being concentrated in the East River district.

Mexico City, Sept. 13.—With a view to giving an advantage to the mining industry, a Presidential Decree has been issued which proclaims that mining companies, owing taxes prior to January 1, may have the same cancelled upon paying the 1920 dues, levied prior to November 1.

Another Decree extends the time for filing claims for damages, due to revolutionary activities, until March 6 next.

McSweeney's Death Will Not Alter Stand, Warning Of Government To Irish

(U. S. Naval Radio)

New York, Sept. 13.—A London telegram states that the Associated Press is assured from responsible sources, both on the Government and Sinn Fein sides, that there is no bluffing on the McSweeney case. A Government official said that if the Sinn Feiners think they are bidding for an eleventh-hour release they are mistaken.

The Sinn Feiners state there is still no question that Sinn Fein desires to have McSweeney released, but if there is no release the Government will perish.

Physicians disclaim any possibility of yrediction as to McSweeney's tenure of life, and say the case is one that baffles science. One man might have died days ago, and another might live for weeks.

London, September 13.—An additional Assistant Under-Secretary of State for Ireland is about to be appointed, with an office at Belfast, who will deal with all problems arising in the six counties of Ulster.

An announcement will shortly be made with reference to the enrolment of "well-disposed citizens" to assist the authorities.

JAPS WILL FAIL IN STRUGGLE FOR LAND IN AMERICA

Count Predicts That Government At Washington Will Have To Settle Question

NO REPLY TO HIS NOTES

Takes Silence Of America As Assent To Nippon's Stand In North Saghalien

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, September 14.—The Asahi publishes an interview with Count Uchida, paying tribute to the attitude of the Washington Government in regard to the California agitation. He is not optimistic in regard to the outcome of the Japanese efforts in the matter of land-law legislation in California, but he confidently relies on the federal government to solve the problem.

He says the new American shipping law will inflict considerable loss on the shipping of Japan and other countries, and states that Japan has sent a formal representation on the subject to Washington.

He has made inquiries from Washington as to the report that the Japanese language is being prohibited in Hawaii, but has received no reply, moreover, he has received no reply from Washington in regard to the explanation given of Japan's occupation of northern Saghalien, and he therefore presumes the acquiescence of the American government in this step.

It is understood that Count Uchida is keeping the details of the negotiations in regard to the California negotiations secret, pending the completion of an agreement in Washington.

New York, Sept. 14.—The question of the disposition of the northern (or Russian) half of Saghalien is still a matter of discussion between the officials of the State Department and the Japanese Ambassador.

Count Uchida, the Japanese Foreign Minister, is reported to have surmised that the Japanese note on the subject is regarded as satisfactory by the United States, and that the matter is settled, but this view is regarded by officials as premature.

It is understood that the State Department regards the Japanese seizure of Russian Saghalien as dismemberment of Russia.

VICTIM OF RIVER NOT IDENTIFIED

Body Exhumed And Inquiry Conducted By Party Of American Officials

All efforts to identify a victim of the river whose body was found by Chinese at Woosung on Sunday and buried have proved unavailing, though the body was exhumed yesterday afternoon by American officials and a medical examination was conducted.

The investigation disclosed only that the dead man was a foreigner and as it was impossible to determine his nationality the body was again buried after the examination was made. It is taken as unusual that no report of the finding of the body was made by the Chinese authorities, but news of the happening reached the American Consulate yesterday and a party composed of U.S. District Attorney C. P. Holcomb, Mr. J. T. Wright of the American Consulate, Acting U. S. Marshal N. Craig, Dr. Frank B. Baldwin and U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl visited Woosung.

It was found that the body had been interred in a shallow grave near the river, but when it was uncovered decomposition had progressed to such a point that it was impossible to tell anything of what the man's appearance in life may have been. He appeared to be somewhat under normal in height with light hair. The only clothing consisted of an undershirt and a pair of overalls in which he had been buried. Doctor Baldwin after his examination said he had been unable to discover any evidence of murder.

It is thought that the victim may be either W. Kerr, who was third engineer of the steamer Woosung and who has been missing since September 10 or a sailor reported to have been drowned a week ago in trying to rescue a comrade who had fallen overboard from the U.S.S. Villalobos.

GREAT RAILWAY SYSTEM IN CHINA URGED AT PEKING

Official Gazette Quotes Minister Of Communications As Sponsor For Plan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, September 14.—The Official Gazette says that Yeh Kung-cho, the Minister of Communications, has instructed the Chinese Director of the Canton-Hankow-Szechuen Railway to consider and report as to whether the Sinyangchow-Chengtu and Tatungfu-Chengtu lines should be joined up with the Hankow-Szechuen line. The Gazette adds:

"The Canton-Hankow-Szechuen Railway is the most important of the south-western lines and as Chinese industry depends on railway communications for development, it is most regrettable that this line has not been completed.

"The great war prevented the flotation of bonds but the war is now ended and the line must be completed.

If the international banking group cannot carry out its original obligation, other means must be found, for further postponement would be most injurious to Chinese interests."

MAGNATES HERE TO INAUGURATE HWEI HAI BANK

Chang Chien And Brother To Attend Opening Tomorrow

A reception will be held on the opening of the Shanghai branch of the Hwei Hai Industrial Bank tomorrow in its newly completed premises, at 22 Kiukiang Road, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. when Messrs. Chang [illegible] and Chang Cha, China's industrial captains, will be present to receive friends and guests of the bank.

The Hwei Hai Bank, whose head office is in Nantungchow, the well-known "Model City," was organised a year ago by Messrs. Chang Chien and Chang Cha, with Mr. Chang Chien Jr. as its president and a fully subscribed capital of $1,000,000, for the purpose of assisting the various industrial enterprises of the "Model City." A large proportion of the transactions of the mills there have therefore been financed by this growing financial institution. It is expected that branches will be established in other important commercial and industrial centers as soon as proper arrangements can be made.

It may be mentioned here that the Messrs. Chang Chien and Chang Cha have been instrumental in developing Nantungchow as one of the important industrial centers of China, which has miles of improved roads, beautiful parks, industrial schools and well-fitted hospitals.

Cigar And Radish Remedy Applied To Fight Plague

(China Press Correspondence)

Hwaiyuan, September 10.—Cholera is raging throughout the city and vicinity of Hwaiyuen. Six to eight cases a day are brought to the hospital, where special cholera wards have been opened. Hundreds of cases are never brought to the hospital and there is very little public opinion on the matter of proper sanitation.

The official in charge is an old timer, who at the time of the pneumonic plague epidemic published posters urging the citizens to eat radishes as a prevention. When interviewed to secure his aid for more thorough preventive measures, he felt that he had done his duty. As far as he himself was concerned, he said he smoked foreign cigars as a preventative measure. He had heard all about germs and didn't see how a germ could get past a cigar.

So far although there have been many very serious cases of cholera brought into the hospital, all have been saved. The epidemic is still on the increase.

380 PROTESTING KOREANS JAILED AS SOLONS QUIT

Prisons Full And Prisoners Are Summoned To Serve Sentence In Relays

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Seoul, September 15.—As an aftermath of the visit of the United States Congressional party, 380 Korean shopkeepers, who closed their doors as a protest against the calling off of the Korean welcome, have been sentenced to three days' imprisonment.

Because the prisons are full, they are summoned by relays to fulfil the penalty imposed on them.

The novel method adopted by the Japanese authorities is being made a laughing stock among the natives who feel that the various incidents which occurred during and following the visit of the Congressmen are putting the oppressors in a irreparably bad light.

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, September 14.—M. Millerand and Signor Giolitti, had a further conference at Aix-les-Bains on Monday morning, and met again at four o'clock the same afternoon. At the conclusion of the proceedings the two Premiers issued a joint statement in which they expressed recognition of the fact that the fundamental basis of an equitable and durable peace must be the close accord of the Allies, especially Great Britain, Italy and France.

MESSAGE TO BRITON

"Signor Giolitti and M. Millerand feel that they cannot separate from their meeting at Aix-les-Bains without sending in common a very cordial and friendly greeting to Mr. Lloyd George.

"The Italian and French Prime Ministers have once again had occasion to recognise the full accord of their general views, and the prime necessity for a close Entente among Great Britain, Italy and France, to insure the settlement of European problems and the re-establishment of peace and normal relations among the nations."

MILLERAND AT GENEVA

Paris, September 14.—M. Millerand arrived on Tuesday morning at Geneva and proceeded in the afternoon to Lausanne to meet the President of the Swiss Republic.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13 (delayed).—The French and Italian Premiers are at present meeting at Aix-les-Bains, and discussing a number of important subjects with a view to arriving at a common agreement on the points on which the two countries have hitherto differed.

According to accounts in the French press, M. Millerand remains adamant against the recognition of the Soviet, whilst Signor Giolitti, though he has not formally recognised the Moscow Government, is prepared to receive a Russian mission in Rome.

COMPROMISE OFFERED

France is said to be ready to abandon her share of the Austro-Hungarian fleet in Italy's favor, on condition that Italy places no obstruction in the way of France obtaining from Germany what the latter owes in economic reparations.

Both Premiers have agreed to the postponement of the Geneva Conference, where the Germans were to discuss with the Allies their financial obligations, and the means of carrying them out. The Premiers further discussed the question of cancelling the Conference entirely.

Aix-les-Bains, Sept. 14.—At the conclusion of the conference between Signor Giolitti and M. Millerand the two Prime Ministers approved of the publication of a statement, in which they say that they have found their common interests in every respect easily reconcilable.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE NECESSARY

They emphasise that the primary basis of peace is more especially the agreement in Europe of Great Britain, Italy and France. They declare that such wars as that between Russia and Poland must be ended, and also the hostilities between the Turkish Nationalists and the Constantinople Government.

Agreement is recorded as regards Turkey's integrity and the statement affirms recognition of the desirability of friendly collaboration in the development of Franco-Italian interests in Asia Minor, and the avoidance of competition between their respective nationals.

As regards the thorny question of their respective policies towards Russia, the Premiers place on record that "the Governments of Italy and France respect, their mutual freedom of action as regards the Soviet Government."

Federated Women's Clubs May Meet Here Is Message Brought By Mrs. Lobingier

Mrs. Charles S. Lobingier, wife of Judge Lobingier of the United States Court for China, returned to Shanghai yesterday on the Pacific Mail liner Colombia after an absence of a year and brought tidings that the next international convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in 1922 may be held here. As a delegate Mrs. Lobingier represented the Shanghai American Woman's Club at the recent biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs which was held at Des Moines, Iowa last June.

Mrs. Lobingier said yesterday that the invitation that she extended on behalf of the American Woman's Club to the federation to bring its next great meeting to Shanghai was received with every mark of enthusiasm and she added that the keenest interest was shown by members of the Federation in Shanghai and in the American Woman's Clubs here. That Shanghai's American Woman's Club was an organisation with a membership of 400 women, all Americans, was a bit of information received with some wonderment, she said.

INVITATION SECONDED

"In presenting the invitation to the convention," Mrs. Lobingier said, "I told the gathering that it had the full support and

SMILLIE'S CASE IS EXPLODED BY COAL FACTS

White Paper Is Issued Showing Figures To Contradict Claims Of Miners

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 18.—Apropos of the question of the present distribution of the coal output, a White Paper just issued shows that during the quarter ending June 30, 58,000,000 tons were produced, of which consumption by the mines themselves and the miners' coal absorbed nearly one tenth, while approximately 9,500,000 tons were exported.

Costs of production totalled £88,000,000, of which £66,000,000 were paid out in wages. The average tonnage raised per person during the quarter was 49.33 tons.

The White Paper shows that the gross profits of coal-mining were £8,000,000 for the June quarter, but this amount is subject to charges for interest and depreciation, owners profits, and capital adjustments, making the net profits for the quarter £750,000 or £3,000,000 a year.

In this connection it is pointed out that Mr. Smillie's case for a 14s. 2d. reduction in the price of household coal is based on his assumption that the industry would give a year's surplus of £66,000,000. Consequently it is claimed that the return completely explodes the miners' case.

The figures show, moreover, that the average earnings of coal-workers of all grades are £226 annually against £82 before the war.

Compared with the previous quarter, the output of the mines decreased by approximately 4,000,000 tons, while the coal exported decreased by nearly 2,500,000 tons.

NEW PASTOR FOR UNION CHURCH ON WAY TO SHANGHAI

The Rev. Alfred Norman Rowland

The Committee of the Union Church announced yesterday that a cable has been received stating that their new minister, the Rev. Alfred Norman Rowland, sailed from England on August 28, and may be expected in Shanghai about the middle of October.

Mr. Rowland, after a brilliant academical career during which he graduated B. A. at London University and M. A. at Balliol College, Oxford, took his theological course at Mansfield College, Oxford. His first pastorate (1896-1908) was at Putney, a London suburb, and his only other pastorate in England has been at Broughton Park Congregational Church, Manchester. From Broughton Park, after a ministry of twelve years, he comes to Shanghai.

Mr. Rowland thus comes to the Far East thoroughly equipped for his important position both by training and experience, and the success of his ministry at Union Church may be confidently predicted. Recent papers have brought the news of Mr. Rowland's farewell meeting at Broughton Park when the large attendance of members of the congregation and the appreciative addresses of neighboring ministers testified to the high regard in which he is held not only by the church but in all religious circles in Manchester.

A reception will be arranged by the Church committee when the date of Mr. Rowland's arrival in Shanghai is more definitely known.

Captain Frank Ainsworth of San Francisco, who is spending a few days in Shanghai on his way to Manila, gives an interesting account of the Memorial to Officers of the United States who fell in the Great War. Captain Ainsworth is a Lt. Comdr. in the Naval Reserve and saw considerable service on the Atlantic as Commodore of Merchant Convoys.

CLUB FOR OFFICERS

The Admiral further said: "Officers in all branches of the service coming to New York, can find at this club accommodation at prices commensurate with their incomes."

Captain Ainsworth states that 2,500 officers have already joined the club and that there are about 195,000 still eligible for membership by reason of their services in the war. The memorial will be on the basis of $1,000 for each officer who made the supreme sacrifice and $250,000 is pledged for this purpose at the present time. Memorial contributions may come from families, groups of friends, lodges, or other organisations with which the deceased was connected.

READ THIS EXPLANATION: IT WILL HELP YOU WIN one of the five cash prizes offered by us for the five best slogans to use in our advertising of the G. I. C. Cigarettes known as:—

VICTORY Natural Aroma CIGARETTES

In response to our previous advertisement asking for such slogans, we have received several hundred answers from various parts of China, but we see now that most of those who answered did not clearly understand our offer. We do not want any drawings, poems, or whole advertisements written for us; what we want and are willing to pay for is a short, well-sounding, and easily remembered phrase, describing or suggesting the excellence of these cigarettes, which contain nothing but pure tobacco, skilfully blended, giving one a delightful smoke with no ill after-effect, which is something of which not every cigarette now on the market can boast.

For Instance:

"Victory users are Quality choosers."
"Made pure — that's sure!"
"Best by test."

To give you another chance to win one of these cash prizes, we have decided to extend the contest to September 30th. Please remember that each letter must be accompanied by an empty package of Victory Cigarettes, and that your suggestion should reach our office not later than October 1st, 1920.

Wholesale Distributors: I. SHAININ @ CO., 10 Kiukiang Road.

Names and addresses of winners chosen by a special committee will be announced as soon as possible after the contest is closed.

1st prize: $50; 2nd-$20; 3rd-$15; 4th-$10; 5th-$5.

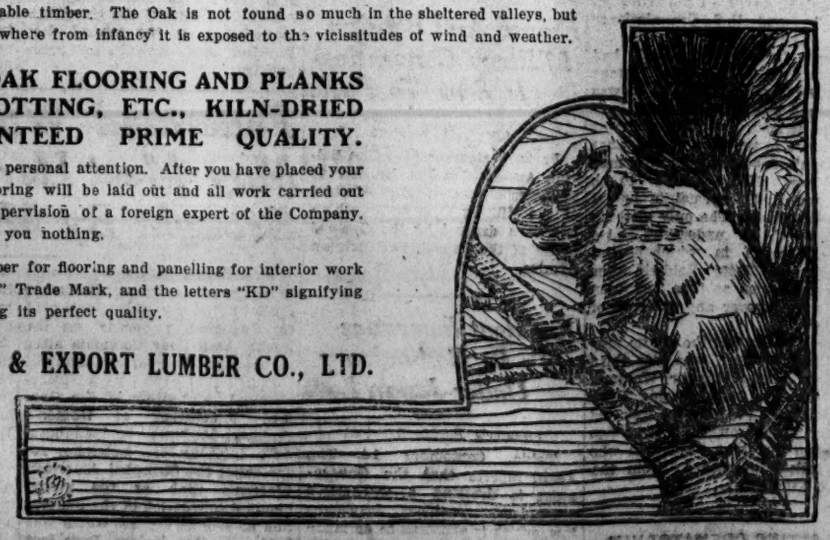
Ask The Squirrel

whether Oak is hard—he knows!

To appreciate to the full the value of Oak for flooring and panelling, it is necessary to know the conditions under which the tree itself comes to maturity.

It is the rule with trees that the faster they grow the poorer the quality of the timber they yield, and vice versa. The Oak is one of the slowest trees to grow, and is consequently the producer of the hardest and most valuable timber. The Oak is not found so much in the sheltered valleys, but on the bleak uplands, where from infancy it is exposed to the vicissitudes of wind and weather.



WE SUPPLY OAK FLOORING AND PLANKS FOR WAINSCOTTING, ETC., KILN-DRIED AND GUARANTEED PRIME QUALITY.

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid out and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. This supervision costs you nothing.

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality.

Cabinet Takes Action To Restore National Finances

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, September 15.—The Official Gazette today publishes a Cabinet Order, saying:

"The heavy depreciation of the Peking notes of the Banks of China and of Communications has caused great inconvenience to trade and public and private loss. Remedial measures are now being taken.

"The Cabinet has authorised the Minister of Finance to float a short term domestic loan of $60,000,000, of which $36,000,000 will be utilised to buy depreciated notes during the period, October 1 to January 31, the balance being utilised to discharge mortgages held by the two banks. The notes thus retained will be destroyed.

"After January no official or commercial institution will be permitted to traffic in the depreciated notes of these banks, or to fix a market rate for them below face value.

"The Ministry of Finance and the Currency Bureau have been instructed to draft regulations as soon as possible for the issue of a limited number of new notes. The two banks in question must rigidly observe these regulations so as to promote and maintain financial stability.

"The holders of depreciated notes may exchange them for deposit certificates or bonds; both of the same face value in silver, bearing interest at 6 percent. The amortisation of the bonds will begin on March 31, 1921, and will continue by half-yearly drawings. Liang Shih-yi has been gazetted Director of the Domestic Bonds Bureau which will handle the above loan."

was seconded by every American official in Shanghai, by the American Chamber of Commerce, the American Association of China, the Far Eastern Bar Association, the American University Club, the American Women's College Club and the Rotary Club."

She went on to relate that while she had not expected to have her invitation seconded by any of the delegates present she was pleasantly surprised when Mrs. Robert Burdette, widow of the celebrated humorist and author, who was a delegate, rose and asked to second the invitation.

"Mrs. Burdette visited Shanghai several years ago with her husband," Mrs. Lobingier explained, "and in seconding my invitation she told the convention that she had tasted Shanghai's hospitality and desired to urge that the invitation I brought from the American Woman's Club be accepted."

Mrs. Lobingier said that invitations for the 1922 convention had been received by the Des Moines convention from Chicago and Hot Springs, Arkansas also, but she said it was unlikely that Hot Springs would be considered and that the choice would lie between Chicago and Shanghai.

INTERESTED IN SHANGHAI

Mrs. Lobingier told of many kindnesses and courtesies that had been extended to her and said that her explanations of how the work of the American Woman's Club was being carried forward in distant China were received with the greatest interest by club leaders who found things in the Shanghai's club's system that might with advantage be applied to women's organisations in America.

In her year's stay in the United States Mrs. Lobingier traveled somewhat and she remarked that she was in Washington at the time of the visit of the King and Queen of Belgium when the American Red Cross Society gave a reception for the royal visitors in the handsome Red Cross building at the Capital. Mrs. Lobingier was the only member of the organisation from outside of Washington invited to this reception, due to the large number of delegates from outside points attending a meeting that was in progress, and not only was this courtesy extended, but Mrs. Lobingier also had the opportunity of talking with Queen Elizabeth whom she found keenly interested in Red Cross methods in China.

Mrs. Lobingier went to the United States with Judge Lobingier just a year ago and remained behind when he returned. She said she had looked forward to her return and was more than glad to be back.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—Nothing is known at the Colonial Office to confirm the report that Lord Milner is contemplating retirement, as Colonial Secretary.

'Play Us A Tune Paddy!' Is Cry

Oxford, England, July 17.—Ignace Paderewski and Eleutherios Venizelos were the "undergrads'" heroes at the celebrations accompanying the awarding of honorary degrees by Oxford University.

"Play us a tune, Paddy!" the students shouted at sight of the world renowned pianist and former Premier of Poland, making him smile.

"Give us a hand with our Greek verse!" they cried, amid cheers, to the Premier-Dictator of Greece, to which Venizelos responded with a gesture signifying incompetence to do it.

Paderewski and Venizelos were only two of a great number who received honorary degrees this year, but they were by far the most conspicuous. Upon each was bestowed the title of LL. D.

Paderewski grieves for his distracted country, but is silent. He was forced into retirement when his countrymen turned a deaf ear to his pleas for peace, for they had been captivated by Gen. Pilsudski's pointing a way to glory through a war of conquest. Pilsudski has been humbled and the Allies he ignored must step in if Poland is to be saved. Yet Paderewski has no reproach to offer, no comment to make, simply reiterating that his life work was finished when his beloved country was freed.

In The U.S. Court For China

Three cases were called on in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier today. The first, that of the Asia Banking Corporation vs. American Sales Corporation was a suit on a bill of exchange for G.$5,500. No answer had been filed to the petition, and defendants made no appearance.

Mr. S. Fessenden, who appeared for the plaintiffs, said he would only call one witness. The petition, he added, set out the acceptance by the defendants, the presentation for payment and the refusal to pay.

Mr. E. Metz, an American in the employ of the Asia Banking Corporation, testified to the draft being presented to the American Sales Corporation for acceptance, on July 18, 1919, and duly accepted on October 19, 1919.

The presentation, witness said, was made on due date, and refused.

No portion of the draft he said, had been paid to date.

The rate of interest was six percent.

The Court—(to Mr. Fessenden)—You have proved your case; you are entitled to interest from June 6, 1919, until the full amount is paid.

In the case of Utrick vs. Asia Banking Corporation, Mr. Fessenden said he had filed a demurrer which he had since consented to withdraw. The case was a Tientsin case he pointed out, and when the time to answer had expired he had not had time to get full details of the case and in addition to that there was the question of the contract. Since that time, however, he had preferred to withdraw the demurrer and go ahead with his answer.

Mr. Bryan, for the defense, suggested five days for the filing of the answer, but the Court allowed one week.

In the case of Chang Yung-kong vs. Philippine National Bank, Mr. R. T. Bryan informed the Court that Mr. Schuhl and himself were representing the defendants and Messrs. Jernigan, Fessenden and Rose the plaintiffs. Defendants had filed a demurrer on three grounds:—

(1) That the plaintiff had no legal capacity to sue.

(2) That there was a defect on the parties plaintiff.

(3) That the petition did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

Counsel argued on the grounds in question, and the Court requested them to present further authorities on the subject raised.

WAR PRISONERS FROM SIBERIA ARE IN SHANGHAI

Sixteen Hundred Captured On Russian Front Are Being Sent To Trieste

Sixteen hundred former German, Austrian and Hungarian soldiers who were made prisoners of war on the Russian front and who while being held were transported all the way across Siberia to the sea coast are in Shanghai today enroute to the Adriatic port of Trieste from which they are to be sent on to their home. The Shanghai Red Cross, the Navy Y.M.C.A. and other agencies are giving aid and supplying needs of these travelers.

It is understood that this is but the first of two big parties of war captives to be sent home from Siberia under the direction of the American War Repatriation Committee which is working in Siberia. The party arrived on the steamer Nankai Maru and the vessel is scheduled to resume its voyage tomorrow morning.

CROWDED QUARTERS

About a third of the men in the big party, which has been crowded into narrow quarters on the ship, are able to speak English and many of these read English as well. Not a few of them have the appearance of having come from the ranks of various professions and there are teachers, physicians, engineers and attorneys included in their number. While their accomodations on the ship have been cramped the men in general are in good physical shape.

One of their important needs is reading matter and to supply this a special has been sent out by the Navy Y.M.C.A. for all books and magazines that can be spared. These should be sent to the Navy Y.M.C.A., 6 Avenue Edward VII, or donors may communicate by telephone with the Secretary, Mr. W. R. Durbin, at Central 2005. The voyage from here to Trieste will take about eight weeks.

Night Attacks On Blockhouses Along Bagdad Railway Are Reported

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—The Civil Commissioner of Bagdad, telegraphing yesterday, states that Capt. Lloyd, who was in charge of the British camp at Deli-Abbas has been released.

A War Office communique dealing with Mesopotamia reports that the construction of block houses is being continued in the face of consistent sniping, which is causing slight casualties Small bands of insurgents have made nocturnal attacks on blockhouses on the Bagdad-Feujah Railway.

COLUMN ADVANCES

The column, under Brigadier-General Conyngham, which left Bakuba on September 6 to operate along the Persian railway has advanced without opposition over 50 miles to Abujisrah. Here it met and forced back a force of insurgents, estimated at 600, to the Morat Canal, from which, put out of action by cavalry, the insurgents retired on Sharasan, where the column arrived on September 10 and exacted a fine of rifles from the hostile inhabitants. One of the murderers of Capt. Buchanan was tried and executed.

INSURGENTS ATTACK

In the meantime, 300 insurgents attacked the post left at Abujisrah, but they were scattered by the timely appearance of an aeroplane, which bombed and machine-gunned them.

A determined attack by insurgents on the railway station at Samarra on the 11th was repulsed after lasting for nine hours.

CARS ARE NEEDED

London, Sept. 13.—In regard to the statements which have been published to the effect that the Government is buying Rolls-Royce cars, and that the Rolls-Royce Company is consequently asking private purchasers to agree to the postponement of delivery, the War Office points out that the purchase of Rolls-Royce chassis is necessitated by circumstances in Mesopotamia, where British armored cars are being rapidly worn out and require immediate replacement.

In view of the situation in Mesopotamia and the protection of British detachments and women and children, it is thought that the prospective buyers of Rolls-Royce cars will not object to a short postponement of delivery.

The Thirteenth Chair

A splendid house; splendid in its numbers, and splendid in its enthusiasm, greeted Frawley's revival of the drama—or shall we say melo-drama—"The Thirteenth Chair." Melo-drama is exacting; one weak spot, and the most thrilling of situations is ruined. Instead of the gasp of surprise or the thrill of horror that is asked for, comes the ripple of laughter, or the out and out guffaw.

Last night the Frawley Company had more than one weak spot. It matters little who or what the spots were, but they did their best to side-tract a fine show. This only gives added glory to those experienced players who so cleverly steered through the pit falls of the play.

To Miss Leslie Virden must be accorded the high honors of the production. I have seen more than one "Madame Rosalie La Grange" but none of them gave the same amount of satisfaction as did Miss Virden. She played the part with a sympathy that at once appealed to the audience, and she imparted into her characterisation a reality that carried conviction. It was a notable piece of acting, upon which Miss Virden must be very heartily congratulated. The other player, who calls for first class notice is Mr. Albert Morrison. He played the part of 'Tim Donohue,' and whenever he was on the stage he dominated proceedings. He is a fine actor. As for the rest of the cast they did what they were called upon to do. Some were good. Two or three were not good. but "The Thirteenth Chair" was well worth seeing for the work of the two players mentioned.

Tonight: "Turn To The Right."

SHANGHAI WINS INTERPORT LAWN BOWLS MATCH WITH GREAT RALLY—SCORE 23-18

Hankow Leading Up To The Sixteenth End When Homesters Come With A Rush Making Eleven Points In Last Five Ends

(BY SKIP)

Shanghai defeated Hankow in one of the most exciting Lawn Bowls matches ever seen in Shanghai yesterday by 5 points. A large crowd of spectators assembled and the excitement ran high towards the finish the result being in doubt up to the 20th end.

At 19 ends the score stood 18 all, but at the 20th Aitkenhead, the Shanghai skip, with a magnificent shot displaced the visitors only shot and lay four. This put an end to Hankow's hopes although a great effort was made by Paul to reduce the lead with his last wood.

Taking the game on the whole the visitors deserved to win, their play throughout being far more consistent than the Shanghai players who were erratic with the exception of McAlister and and Aitkenhead, the former being particularly good.

VISITORS GOOD PLAY

Hankow started with a one to which Shanghai replied with four. Hankow got another one and Shanghai a five, making the score 9 to 2 at four ends. After this Hankow plodded on and at the 16th end were 18 to Shanghai's 12, having scored 12 ends to the locals four.

Things were looking ominous for Shanghai when by a supreme effort they got into their stride and never allowed Hankow another look in. The result was rather a surprise as the local four were looked upon as being extra strong and hearty congratulations are due to the visitors for the great game they played.

An extraordinary feature about the match was that two "burnt" ends were played, with the result that they had to be played over again. The cause in both instances being that the "Jack" was carried out of the rink.

Taking the visitors as a whole they combined well together and were very keen, each man being on top of his form. They should give a good account of themselves during their stay in the port. The scores at the finish were Shanghai 23, Hankow 18.

Batting King Of The American League

George Sisler, first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, who is far out in the lead in the American League batting race. Sisler is smashing the ball for an average of .408. With the serious disablement of Ty Cobb, which apparently has eliminated him from the battling race, Sisler will without doubt capture the batting honors this season.

MANY CHANGES IN BIG TEN COACHING

'Rejiggering' To Come In All Mid-West Sports With View To New Vigor

Chicago, August 23.—College athletics in the middle west will be considerably "rejiggered" beginning with the football season this fall, according to plans announced by faculties of several big midwestern schools.

The "rejiggering" will consist of changes in the coaching department with a view to strengthening college teams in all sports.

At present efforts are being concentrated in improving the football chances of several colleges in the Big Ten.

Although they were runners up in the championship last year Ohio State will have in addition to Jack Wilce, Chick Harley, who captained the Buckeye eleven in 1919.

Harley will take the kickers in hand and if he has the faculty for teaching the game as well as he played it, Ohio should be well up in front from a kicking standpoint. Harley was one of the best punters and field goal kickers in the west last year and was selected by most critics for position on the All-American back field.

Northwestern University will probably have what is considered the most important football change. Elmer McDeavitt former Yale player, will direct the Purple eleven this fall. McDeavitt was assistant to Fred Murphy when the latter coached Northwestern, and succeeds Charles Bachman, who will handle the Kansas Aggies.

McDeavitt is up against the hardest proposition ever tackled by a Northwestern football coach The stiffest schedule in the history of the Evanston, school is set for this season. On October 9 Northwestern meets Minnesota It closes the season against the hard-driving Notre Dame school.

Alonzo Stagg will direct the fortunes of the Chicago University team and Coach Williams will again act as the football tutor to Minnesota's gridiron stars.

Change in the athletic directing will not be confined to football alone, however.

Illinois loses the services of Ralph Jones who has coached the Illinois baseball team since 1912. Jones goes to Lake Forest, Ill., academy to take charge of all of its athletic activities.

At Wisconsin, Dr. W. E. Meanwell, former Badger coach, will return to direct the basketball team. Meanwell is considered one of the best basketball coaches in the country. The Wisconsin five won five championships when Meanwell was with them before.

Hildreth Doubles Bid For Inchcape

New York, July 23.—Doubling the amount of his original bid, Sam C. Hildreth has made an offer of $100,000 to J. H. Rosseter for Inchcape, winner of the Tremont Stakes and generally regarded as the best two-year-old that has been seen this season. This was admitted yesterday by Fred Burlew, who trains the colt and who submitted the offer to his employer. The trainer, though having full authority, did not wish to decide a matter involving so much money, but was free to admit that he would not sell the colt if he had his way about it. Inchcape has already been referred to as a second Man o' War, and good judges think he will go through the season unbeaten.

Dempsey May Go To London For Bout

BY CHARLES F. MATHISON

New York, August 10.—Jack Dempsey may go to England and fight Carpentier for the purse of £50,000 offered by Charles B. Cochran. Manager Jack Kearns has been thinking seriously over the proposition, and while he said yesterday he had not definitely made up his mind, he has not by any means declined the offer. Fifty thousand pounds would be nearly $200,000, and it does not appear that any American promoter would guarantee the champion a sum of that size to meet the French boxer in this country.

In addition to £50,000 to Dempsey Cochran is reported to have offered £35,000 to Carpentier, which would bring the total guarantee to the boxers up to approximately $350,000. If Kearns can take an American referee to London it is not unlikely he will make the trip. With an English referee in the ring it would be a hazardous thing for Dempsey to hit Carpentier in the body, as the Frenchman and his manager are adepts at claiming foul. Therefore, if Dempsey boxes Carpentier in England it will be advisable for the world's champion to confine his blows to the jaw.

According to present plans Carpentier will arive here next month to fulfill an engagement with Levinsky, and it is not unlikely the details of a Dempsey-Carpentier bout in London will then be arranged.

Jack Johnson Is Sentenced To Jail

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Jack Johnson has been sentenced to imprisonment for one year and one day and Lavensworth to a fine of $1,000 for violation of the Mann Act.

Chicago, Ills., July 25.—Fearing a noisy and possibly riotous demonstration upon his arrival here, Jack Johnson was removed from an incoming Santa Fe train today and placed in the county jail at Joliet for safekeeping. He will later be brought to Chicago by automobile and at a time when none of his friends will be on hand to meet him.

Men and women of his race, several thousand strong, were at the Polk Street station ready to greet the exchampion when the train reached Chicago, but no Jack appeared.

The reason was told here later. Charles J. Farley, Station Superintendent down in Joliet, at 10:10 this morning had flagged the California Limited, and when it came to a stop, Johnson was removed from his sleeper by United States Deputy Marshals Klein and Smith.

At the County Jail there, he gave his name and his occupation as former heavyweight champion of the world.

"I'm damn glad to get back, even as far as this," announced Johnson, as he sat in the reception room and chewed a cigar. "The reason I decided to give myself up and come back is to show the world I'm still champion.

"As soon as I get out of this mixup with the Federal Government, I am going to start training and clean up this Dempsey fellow." Johnson swung a ponderous clenched fist over his head and yawned.

"Nothing to it," he deprecated, and went on to tell his plans, after he should have met pending charges under the Man act, for which he voluntarily returned from Mexico.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. FEHLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARDEE, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a safe and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

HAND IN THE DARK

The Hand In The Dark. By Arthur J. Rees. New York: John Lane Company. $2.

Somebody ought to tell President Wilson about Mr. Rees's "The Hand in the Dark." Still, as he generally discovers for himself, perhaps by instinct, the best detective stories, it is unlikely that he will be long in finding this one, and getting out of it the relaxation and enjoyment which such tales afford him. And if he read, as he probably did, Mr. Rees's previous novel, "The Shrieking Pit," it goes without saying that he will reach out for "The Hand in the Dark" as soon as he hears about it. For the author of these two novels has put himself by their means into the first rank of the writers of detective stories. People who read a great deal of fiction usually come to the point after a while where plots no longer have surprises for them, where they know what the ending of a novel, the solution of its mystery, is going to be as soon as they learn early in the story the nature of the plot, the character of the mystery. But let no such experienced hand and sophisticated head endeavor to foretell from the first hundred pages of this novel what the last ones will disclose. For the chances are overwhelming that he will be mistaken. In short, Mr. Rees has set before the reader a mystery whose blind and baffling qualities are likely to puzzle and lead astray the most astute and skillful of lovers of detective fiction.

The scene of the story is laid in a country house in England near the end of the war, a mediaeval moathouse, some hundreds of years old, which had taken the place of a castle dating back to Saxon times, and itself had a history beginning in turmoil and horrors. But in the Autumn of 1918 it was, as the author pictures it, a delight to the eye and a fascination, with its moat walls and bridge and old garden, to lovers of the past. Gathered there was a week-end party, whose gayeties the young and pretty wife of the heir to the estate could not engage in because a temporary indisposition confined her to her room. As the rest of the party was finishing their dinner and almost ready to start for a neighboring festivity they were startled by a scream and the report of a pistol, and the young wife was found dying in her bed, shot through the lungs.

Three detectives are presently engaged in the endeavor to find out who committed the murder, a local county constable, the star of Scotland Yard, and a private operative. The author shows much skill and resourcefulness in the way he plays these three men against one another, bringing out their characters and capacities, allowing now one and now another to seem to have solved the mystery, and then bringing out some new development that makes it necessary for them to begin all over again. The complicated and skillful ingenuity and invention with which the murderer had concealed his responsibility for the deed outwits them all for a long time, and will doubtless do the same for the reader until the mystery is solved for him. The book has other pleasures in store for the reader aside from its chief merit, for the author writes well, with a good forceful, interesting style, makes graphic and pleasing pictures of his background, and puts vitality and individuality into the delineation of his characters.

MR. WITWER'S STORIES

There's No Base Like Home. By H. C. Witwer. Doubleday, Page and Co.

Kid Scanlan. By H. C. Witwer. Small, Maynard and Co.

Of all the followers of Ring W. Lardner, concoctor of colloquial slang and slapstick humor, there is no finer exemplar than H. C. Witwer who writes with a steady, unabated dash; his humor is so obvious that one wonders wanly long after why it induced a smile; when he is pathetic, which is very seldom, it is pathos of the good old ten, twent,' thirt' variety. His Kid Harmon, "undisputed monarch of the diamond," and his Kid Scanlan, the pugilistic motion-picture celebrity, are cut from the same cloth. In their mouths are the same words, the same wonder-corrding variety of ludicrous slang and the same slap-dash nonchalance. In other words, H. C. Witwer has expended his talents upon one type, a solitary personification of his style of humor—and let it go at that. Though this type may be called by various names in different stories, the reader will always recognise him for the same personality. Ed Harmon or Kid Scanlan—it is all one. Witwer's type is the slangy, uneducated, heart-in-the-right-place, sports-loving, dare-devil American. The type may exist.

Two volumes of Witwer's stories have recently been published practically simultaneously. "There's No Base Like Home," being a collection of the laughable letters of Ed Harmon, and "Kid Scanlan," which narrates the adventures of the Kid as a motion picture star in the settlement at Film City, California. Looking for subtlety in these stories is like looking for a needle in a haystack. They are obviously put together for one purpose—that of inducing the loud guffaw and inducing it without too much thought. In a certain way, Witwer's stories remind one of Keystone comedies, although, of course, they are not quite so farfetched in their incongruous situations. This humor is aimed directly at the more primitive qualities in the reader. A succession of comical pictures is posed; the dialogue is a welter of distorted English and racy smiles. This kind of patter is handled with skill by Mr. Witwer, who hardly ever descends to a too-obvious cheapness.

If anything the stories (written as letters) in "There's No Base Like Home" are the more amusing. There is a ripeness about the figure of Ed Harmon, that extraordinary pitcher who goes too often to the plate and is accordingly broken, that is not to be found in the figure of Kid Scanlan. Harmon is a bit more illiterate, but he is also a bit more funny. His troubles are never too serious, and if the reader laughs at his difficulties it is with gentle friendliness. Ed's wife, Jeanne, must be mentioned, too, for her attempts to make a society man out of Ed and to teach him to speak the English language correctly are quite the funniest portions of the book.

In "Kid Scanlan" the reader, is told of the many adventures that befall the welterweight champion while posing for pictures in a large motion picture studio. Naturally the pugnacious personality of the Kid gets him into many a scrape. It also gets him out again, generally with dire result to the opponent's physiognomy. The Kid may not know much about motion pictures, "movie" actors and their ways, and the brainstorms of excited directors, but he has good working knowledge of human nature and this helps him through many a difficult place. His love affair with Miss Vincent, the particular bright star of Film City, is quite laughable, but at the same time quite sincere. These two books may be scoffed at by the more intellectual, but the wideness of their appeal is evident.

A STORY OF IRELAND

Rachel Fitzpatrick: By Lady Poore. John Lane. The Bodley Head.

We can imagine that any author who started out to write the story of "Rachel Fitzpatrick" would become so delighted with her heroine that she might forget to make the episodes in her life dramatic.

This, perhaps, is what happened to Lady Poore. Or else she is an Englishwoman trying to hide her warm heart under her sleeve, or an Irishwoman who does not want to be accused of the emotionality of her nation. For, if there is a fault to be found with this story it is that enough is not made of the big scenes in the life of the charming heroine. Somehow through all Rachel's vicissitudes we know that everything was going to come out all right. Never once did we catch our breath with suspense, nor grip the chairarm until we had turned a page; no, not even when Rachel was shut up in a stuffy German train with German officers in the first glory of the war. Yet, this does not, somehow, detract from the pleasure of the book, which is charmingly written in a style that is too rapidly passing.

Rachel goes from her tumble-down Irish home, Ballymore, to her aunt's home in London, there to spend the two years between sixteen and eighteen and begin the education that has been practically non-existent. How the change from the lazy dolce far niente existence of the old life to the order and luxury of the new affects a really fine character is the first part of the story which soon branches out into the more strenuous life of a debutante in the cream of English society. How Rachel comes to the realisation of her own beauty, and cherishes a desire to take back to her own home some of the things she has learned, is finely told. There are glimpses of the love between father and daughter, too, that are poignant and leave one with a sense of loss when the old Irish landlord—to the end battling against odds—is taken away.

A good part of the pleasure derived from the story is due to its clever characterisations. Mrs. Maxwell, Rachel's friend, is the sort of woman we all want to meet once in a lifetime. Her interest in Rachel's love affair is the sort that does not impinge on the hearts of either her friend or her nephew. Also, she is human enough to wear hats so pretty that they, "positively invite others to be taken for a walk," to use the hero's phrase. And Dickie, the young soldier who tries to leave all his money to his poorer cousin and is sorry that he himself does not die—while rejoicing delightfully in the fact of being alive to the fleshpots of Egypt—is some one we hunt for throughout the book.

Neither must we forget Lady Fanny, the real Irish mother of the novels, with an old treasure of a servant who brought her children up—Lady Fanny certainly would not have been capable of such a laborious task!—and who now cooks for the family, Bridget Moriarty by name. If all Irishwomen had Bridget's heart of gold, and all Englishwomen were as tolerant and sensible as Mrs. Maxwell, understanding between the two nations would be so easy the Irish problem would rapidly become a mere historical tradition.

WINE O' THE WINDS

Wine O' The Winds. By Keene Abbott. Illustrated. Doubleday, Page and Co. $1.75.

Although its scene is laid in the really "wild" West of the early sixties, and the author has introduced a heavy snowstorm, a prairie fire and a couple of Indian raids in an evident effort to create excitement, "Wine o' the Winds" possesses the worst of faults—it is dull. This is partly because the plot is neither well presented nor well put together and partly because the characters, with the single exception of the minor one of little Matt, the hunchback, lack that vitality which wins a reader's interest, is liking or disliking. Now and then, it is true, there comes a moment which seems to hold out promise of better things in future, and the last scene of all is not without a certain degree of impressiveness. But taken as a whole, one can only say of this novel what Mrs. Poyser said of Craig the gardener: it needs to be "hatched o'er again, an' hatched different."

It opens after the fashion of so many Western novels, with a broken down stage and the necessity of spending a night where the traveler—on this occasion the hero of the book, Dr. North—had no intention of spending it. In this place, known as Gilbert's Ranch, Dr. North meets the heroine, Winnie Barton, the conventionally unconventional heroine usually to be found in this kind of fiction, young, of overpowering innocence, frankness, fearlessness and beauty. But there is another girl, Alice Arden, to whom North had been engaged before he made the terrible mistake which caused him to renounce his profession, leave his home and go West. Alice presently comes to the West, bringing with her the children, two little orphaned nephews and a niece, to whom she is guardian. Winnie falls in love with North, but he remains loyal to Alice, and though Winnie separates them for a time, it is she who in the end brings them together.

The Girl On The Hilltop

The Girl On The Hilltop. By Kenyon Gambier. New York: George H. Doran Company.

When Roger Lingard and Charity Turle drove impudently away from Castlechepe under the infuriated eyes of Lionel Saint John Mildmay Lingard, lord of the manor, they set in motion a train of events that have provided Mr. Gambier with the material for his somewhat unusual narrative.

"The Girl on the Hilltop" has the virtue of being uncommon, but it is not very satisfactory. The author's method of story-telling may be described as spasmodic; there is no ease in the course of his recital. He jumps along in a fashion quite disconcerting to the reader and insists on creating about certain of his characters an air of mystery that is annoying rather than interesting.

Roger Lingard, great-grandson of that Robert who eloped with Mistress Turle, is an honest enough sort of boy, but is in no way an impressive character. He has all the fictional attributes of a hero, Mons ribbon and so forth, but he is not convincing. The manner in which he allows himself to be handed about by three girls is not inspiring, to say the least. When he does really fall in love it is with a girl to whom the author has barely introduced us, and we are certain Roger knows her no better than we unless he has been clever enough to arrange clandestine meetings when our backs were turned. Authors should be careful to publish all available information concerning their heroines as soon as possible, since some readers, like families, are particular in such matters.

The book in spots is mildly amusing—but it has little else to recommend it. Some of the speeches of Bickly Ryker, in his role of a British Colonel, are, to say the least, remarkable.

Shantung War Lord Finally Removed

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tsinan, September 13.—General Ma Liang has finally been deprived of all his offices. Ever since his execution of the three Mchammedan "Ten Men Group" leaders in July, 1919, Ma Liang has been the worst hated and the most feared man in Tsinan, who struck terror in the heart of every liberal and every radical. In fact the General was the real "power behind the throne" in Shantung, and it was openly said that he would never be removed.

A year ago he told the arrested students that he could be the Tuchun of Shantung whenever he chose, and at that time it was no vain boast. Today this same Ma Liang is getting ready to slink out of Tsinan unnoticed, keeping his destination a secret.

A PRESENT FROM NATURE

Moreover, what is Nature? It is that from which all creation springs. When things lose this Principle they die: when they receive it they are born. If men, in acting, run counter to it, they fail, if they comply with it, they succeed. Wherefore drop your silly prejudices and turn to Nature. From among its lofty mountains, covered with eternal snow, it offers you its product:—A TIBETAN FOX SKIN. Send $25.—(Chinese Post Office Money Order) to MR. ELLY WIDLER, TATSIENLU, SZECHWAN PROVINCE, and by return mail he will forward one of these specially selected TIBETAN FOX SKINS.

50,000 Refugees Aided By Yochow Relief Committee

(China Press Correspondence)

Yochow City, Hunan, September 1.—The statement of the accounts of the Committee on Relief and Refuge Work in Yochow has been made public.

The Committee wishes to thank all those who contributed so generously to this cause. They made it possible to reach about 50,000 individuals with three shen of rice each, and so tide them over a very trying time.

The very efficient and harmonious working together of British, American and Chinese men-of-war lying off Yochow for its protection will live long in the memories of those who went through those days of suffering and danger.

We would mention with gratitude the presence and help of Mr. J. C. Huston, American Vice-consul at Hankow, Rear Admiral G. H. Boretts, Commander of the British forces on the Yangtsze, Capt. Thomas A. Kearney, Commander of the American Patrol Forces of the Yangtsze, and Rear Admiral Du of the 2nd Chinese Naval Squadron as well as the Commanding Officers of the Bee, the Saga, Quiros, Upshui, Scarab, Villalabos, Kinsha, Rizal, Woddcock, Kiang Li, Hai Eo and Kiang Kwen. Nor would we fail to express our thanks for the valuable protection afforded by the presence of the 20th Division Guard, provided by General Fan Gwohdjang, and later, by the guards of American sailors from the Upshur and Quiroo.

We owe a debt of gratitude for valuable aid given by the Yochow customs launch in helping the foreign ladies to escape, by the Standard Oil Co.'s launch Mei Fu, in carrying supplies and by several Red Cross launches from Hankow carrying refugees and supplies.

Special mention is due a corps of Huping College Students, who worked faithfully and tirelessly distributing rice in the city and district.

The balance of funds on hand $2,455.49, has been handed over to Mr. H. R. Lequear, Chairman of a newly appointed Committee which takes the place of the one functioning at the time of the trouble.

Thanking you for the valuable space in your paper, I am, very truly.

F. K. HEINRICHSOLM.
Chairman Committee on Relief and Refuge Work at Yochow.

LIQUOR DEAD AS SLAVERY, SAYS COX

Governor Calls Attention To Fact That He Enforced Ohio Saloon Laws

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Portland, Sept. 14.—Governor Cox, addressing a deputation of women on the liquor question, pledged himself to enforce all laws, regardless of what interests might be affected.

He was surprised, he said, in coming to the north-west, to find that the very great moral issue of peace through the League of Nations had become such a soul-absorbing question.

The Opposition had been seeking to avoid the issue by setting up as a bogey the liquor question, which was as dead as slavery so far as the presidency was concerned.

The question was one of law-enforcement. Governor Cox added that he had enforced all the Ohio saloon laws.

Nampaids, Sept. 14.—Governor Cox, in the course of a speech, declared that a fund of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 was being raised in an effort to defeat him.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—With reference to the statement made by Senator Harding in a speech at Marion, cabled yesterday, to the effect that the English and French texts of the Covenant of the League of Nations were directly contradictory in regard to the clause dealing with the Monroe Doctrine, Reuter's Agency is informed that the purpose and meaning of both texts are identical. The whole contention, which specially refers to Article 21 of the Covenant, is regarded as a mare's nest.

Circular telegrams have been despatched to the Provincial authorities, instructing them to purchase rice for the sufferers. The President and the Premier have each donated $100 to the relief fund with the object of "persuading Tuchuns and wealthy merchants to contribute according to their means." General Chang Tso-lin has informed Liang Shih-yi by telegram that sufferers through the famine could find employmeht with the Kaiyuan Development Company in Manchuria.

Hongkong Market

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor write as follows in their report dated September 10:

Our market continues in rather a depressed state, except for investment stocks which continue in firm demand.

London despite the rather serious political situation continues to improve and quotations in nearly all the stocks in which Hongkong is interested, with the exception of Indo Chinas, show an advance on last week.

Shanghai is beginning to show signs of firming up and a small amount of business has been transacted.

The chief alterations from last week are:

Hongkong Banks:—After business as high as $630 and 3 as low as $625 close with buyers at $630.

Central Estates:—At $108.

Hongkong Hotels at $145 and Hongkong Lands at $115 all show an advance on last week's rate, and close with strong buyers.

Wharves:—Continue in demand at $86 and Docks at $150.

Unions:—Have come to business at $183, at which more shares could be placed.

Hongkong Fires:—At $318 and Cantons at $370 have changed hands at quotations.

Shells:—Have advanced to £7.16.3 in London, on rumors that the Company are considering the transfer of their Head Office to Holland in order to avoid payment of super tax.

Watsons:—Have buyers at $6.60.

THE BREAKING POINT

When Mind And Body Are Fagged

Many serious accidents, as well as mistakes in life, have been traced to failure of the memory, ill-health having been the original cause of this trouble. Now, who are the most likely to suffer in this respect?

When persons of either sex begin to hesitate in speaking, cannot "collect their thoughts," when they find their ideas are often confused, when excitement throws them off their mental balance, when they frequently forget where they leave things, then, says the doctor, here is a case bordering on neurasthenia or nervous breakdown. If this state of health continues without attention collapse may follow.

It is a fact that most nervous disorders are due to impure thin blood, from that they spring. The starved nerves are not able to meet the strain on them, the mind becomes dull; physical effort causes fatigue. Only new pure blood can save the victims from collapse and dispel neurasthenia or nervous breakdown. This good red blood is created in abundance by Dr. Williams' pink pills, and in that way these pills have in a great number of cases banished nervous, mental and digestive disturbances. They have given increased energy, fitness, keen appetite, strong steady nerves and robust health to men and women who were once nervous wrecks.

To give one instance only Mrs. W. Cook, of "Orchard Horse," Sutton-on-Trent, England, recently stated:

"Some years ago I had a terrible trial through the tragic death of my mother. For weeks I was unable to realise she was dead, so great was the shock to my nervous system.

"I had the best of medical advice, but nothing seemed to do me permanent good. I had terrifying fits of depression, and many a time I have felt that I should welcome death as a happy release.

"When things were about as bad as they could be I chanced to read in a newspaper a case which was very similar to my own that had been cured by Dr. Williams' pink pills. I thereupon made up my mind that I would give them a good trial. I got a supply of the pills and I knew from the start they were doing me good, but I could hardly trust myself to believe it.

"I continued with the pills, and made such good headway that now I feel better than I have done for years. If only my experience should prove helpful to any other sufferers by inducing them to give a trial to Dr. Williams' pink pills I shall be only too thankful."

Dr. Williams' pink pills are an ideal tonic for all nervous people of both sexes. They are obtainable from dealers everywhere, or at $1.50 the bottle $8/- for six bottles, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai. Today is the best time to begin them.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filing with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

WEATHER

Rough weather on the Sea of Japan. Northeasterly winds again along our coasts to the north of the Formosa Strait. Very variable breezes on the China Sea. Weather probably improving.

The Paramount Issue

The confusion that exists in the public mind of America as to the issues involved in the presidential campaign, to which we have called attention frequently and which we have tried in some degree to clear away for readers out here, is plainly revealed by excerpts from editorials and speeches published in The Literary Digest of August 21. We quote:

SENATOR Harding having proposed "in plain words that we remain out" of the League declares Governor Cox in his speech of acceptance, "as the Democratic candidate, I favor going in." Thus, observe Republican editors, Governor Cox accepts the League Covenant as the paramount issue, "and Republicans will be glad that he has done it." Yet, in spite of the emphasis placed upon the League issue by all four candidates and by the majority of Republican and Democratic editors, there is a wide-spread feeling that the League of Nations is not after all the paramount issue of the campaign, perhaps not an issue at all. Here is the chairman of the Democratic National Committee intimating that "progressivism is to be the principal issue of the campaign," and "the real issue west of the Mississippt." Here is the chairman of the Republican committee characterising "the Wilson League" as simply one of the many sins of the Wilson Administration which must be repudiated, and insisting, after all the acceptance speeches have been made, that "it is squarely up to the electorate to indorse or repudiate the last seven years of Democratic maladministration in Washington, which to the vast majority of the citizenry of this country stands for a sinful squandering of our great resources, a saturnalia of extravagance, a cataclysm of perverted purposes and broken promises, and finally an absolute betrayal of American rights and American interests." A correspondent of a Republican paper tells how worried Democratic leaders are over the failure of Governor Cox "to arouse any enthusiasm over the League of Nations," and a Democratic editor sees a "panic" in the Republican camp, where "the Republican friends of the League of Nations are discovered to be so numerous that the issue of issues must be put in the background, veiled." Naturally, Republicans express pleasure at what they call the "wobbling" of their opponents, while the Democrats are no less delighted in what seems to them a Republican "straddle" on the League issue. The New Haven Journal-Courier (Ind.) impartially observes that "if the charge is true that the peace plank in the Republican platform was drawn deliberately to make it comfortable for Senator Johnson and his Senate colleagues, the same charge lies against the peace plank in the Democratic platform, that it was drawn to make it comfortable for Senator Walsh and his colleagues in that body."

To the Socialist New York Call it is "The Great Stage Battle" from now on, and it observes satirically: "The Democrats will wage a fierce fight for the acceptance of the League with only two reservations, while the Republicans will battle valiantly for some half-dozen reservations." As a political issue, adds the Socialist daily, the League "is as vital as a dead cat in a gutter." This comes from a daily thoroughly convinced of the futility of the League, yet an independent journal supporting the League, the Newark Ledger, observes that "we are not going to permit the League at this late day to blind us to more pressing problems. The only way the League can be an issue is in a negative form; never in a positive." And there are Republican papers which refuse to consider the League a party issue. Take, for instance, the Portland Oregonian's declaration: "For itself, The Oregonian is for a League of Nations, without reference either to the Republican or the Democratic party." Or this, from another Republican paper friendly to the League, the Springfield (Mass.) Union:

"What's the use of trying to make an issue between the parties of something that is only a nebulous disagreement within them? Why not be honest about it, and say that both platforms are vague and both condidates are indefinite because both parties are divided on it; and why not also be honest and say that, notwithstanding all the debate in Congress and notwithstanding all the dodging present and to come in the Presidential campaign, there will be nothing else for the United States to do ultimately but to adopt the League in principle and join it in fact? Ultimately facts have to be looked in the face."

To let our readers judge to what extent these denials of the paramountcy of the League issue are justified, we may turn to recent statements of party leaders. Senator Harding's speech of acceptance has already been quoted in these columns. It will be remembered that he denounced the President's peace policy, promised "formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican Congress can pass its declaration for a Republican Executive to sign," and declared that he would approach other nations proposing "a new relationship for world peace." Governor Cox's declaration for the League is emphatic enough, but as several commentators notice, he admits the desirability of reservations. In his speech at Dayton on the 7th, Governor Cox denounced "the present Senatorial cabal" for their attitude toward peace and President Wilson. The Harding statement, according to Mr. Cox, "means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany," which "would not only be a piece of bungling diplomacy but plain, unadulterated dishonesty as well." If this country, refusing to enter, the already established League of Nations, were to submit "an entirely new project," the "act would either be regarded as arrant madness or attempted international bossism." The Governor continued:

"The League of Nations is in operation. . . . Senator Harding as the Republican candidate for the Presidency proposes in plain words that we remain out of it. As the Democratic candidate I favor going in. . . .

"The first duty of the new Administration clearly will be the ratification of the Treaty. The matter should be approached without thought of the bitterness of the past. The public verdict will have been rendered, and I am confident that the friends of would peace, as it will be promoted by the League, will have in numbers the constitutional requisite to favorable Senatorial action. . . .

"Our platform clearly lays no bar against any additions that will be helpful, but it speaks in a firm resolution to stand against anything that disturbs the vital principle. We hear it said that interpretations are unnecessary. That may be true, but they will at least be reassuring to many of our citizens, who feel that in signing the Treaty there should be no mental reservations that are not expressed in plain words, as a matter of good faith to our associates."

In the portion of his speech dealing with domestic issues the Democratic candidate repeatedly declared that he took a progressive attitude particularly as compared with that of the Republicans. He made no mention of prohibition but insisted on the necessity of law enforcement with the side remark that "morals can not easily be produced by statute." Democratic papers all over the country have praised Governor Cox's address as "a fighting speech" which clearly joins the issue on the League question, and the Democratic press as a whole accept the League as the one great issue of the campaign. As the Louisville Courier-Journal puts it, Governor Cox "leaves no room for doubt that not Woodrow Wilson himself more earnestly desires our entrance into the League." The independence Chicago Daily News admits that the speech "furnishes an excellent basis for the coming national campaign of the party that has nominated Mr. Cox." The independent Tulsa Tribune in Oklahoma characterises the speech at Dayton as "the clarion call to all Americans to rally to the standard of America and defend the homes and honor of America." In New York another independent friend of the League likewise finds in the speech an almost conclusive argument for support of the Democratic ticket; says The Evening Post:

"As between Governor Cox and Senator Harding The Evening Post finds no difficulty in declaring that Cox is a friend of the League and Senator Harding is its opponent. . .

"If Senator Harding can not soon bring himself to speak out for a League of Nations, a League safeguarded by specific reservations, but recognising nevertheless America's duty and obligations, then there is no free choice for friends of the League. They must go with Cox. They can not wait for any change of heart in Mr. Harding after he is elected President. Frankly, they do not believe that this change will be forthcoming. And even if the personal conversion of Senator Harding were assured after election day, they feel convinced that he would be powerless against the situation which his present attitude will have created. The forces against the League, whose strength we do not underestimate, will be immeasurably augmented and encouraged by Mr. Harding's election. His success will be interpreted as a verdict against the League."

Republican critics of the Cox speech of acceptance view it from more than one angle. "Every vote for Cox will be a vote for that hideous League to Promote War," says the Brooklyn Standard Union (Rep.), and the New York Sun (Ind. Rep.) agrees that Governor Cox's League declaration "plants him four-square on this crucial national issue." Scores of Republican papers make the same point. On the other hand, we find the Baltimore American (Rep.) declaring that the Governor's principles, "as expressed in his speech of acceptance, are cloudy and obscure," and the New York Tribune utters like complaints.

Governor Cox's emphatic declaration on the League was followed two days later by even stronger words from his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt said in part:

"In our world-problems we must either shut our eyes, sell our newly built merchant marine to more far-seeing foreign Powers, crush utterly by embargo and harassing legislation our foreign trade, close our ports, and build an impregnable wall of costly armaments and live, as the Orient used to live, a hermit nation, dreaming of the past; or we must open our eyes and see that modern civilisation has become so complex and the lives of civilised men so interwoven with the lives of other men in other countries as to make it impossible to be in this world and not of it. We must see that it is impossible to avoid, except by monastic seclusion, those honorable and intimate foreign relations which the fearful-hearted shudderingly miscall by that devil's catchword, 'international complications.' . . . .

"The League of Nations is a practical solution of a practical situation. It is no more perfect than our original Constitution, which has been amended eighteen times and will soon, we hope, be amended the nineteenth, was perfect. It is not antinational; it is antiwar. . . . . .

"That such an object should be contrary to American policy is unthinkable; but if there be any citizen who has honest fears that it may be perverted from its plain intent so as to conflict with our established form of government, it will be simple to declare to him and to the other nations that the Constitution of the United States is in every way supreme. There must be no equivocation, no vagueness, no doubt-dealing with the people on this issue. The League will not die. An idea does not die which meets the call of the hearts of our mothers."

Governor Coolidge's speech formally accepting the Vice-Presidential nomination contained references to the Lodge reservations, which are generally taken by the press of both parties as indicating his personal stand for ratification of the Treaty with reservations, and the New York Globe is led to comment:

"Senator Harding voted twice for the Lodge reservations. Governor Collidge has expressed himself in terms which are not inconsistent with them. When the Senate meets next spring, with a Republican Senate and President, there need be nothing in the party's program and promises to prevent the reintroduction of these reservations and the ratification of the Treaty."

Mr. Taft admits his "deep disappointment" over Senator Harding's declarations on the Treaty. He believes his course "unwise, politically inexpedient, and impracticable." But he prefers Harding to Cox, and believes it highly important that President Wilson should be succeeded by a Republican. In answer to a series of questions put to him by the New York Evening World, Mr. Taft thus voices his hope that we will finally join the League through the efforts of President Harding:

"I believe that it will be found that when President Harding approaches the twenty-nine members who have already formed a League they will be reluctant to adopt some new form, especially if by that time the League shall have demonstrated its usefulness and practicability.

"It is on this basis that I hope that President Harding will ultimately conclude it to be wiser to enter the League with the Lodge reservations than to attempt to carry out the same purpose through a new form of association."

AN UNEXPECTED COMPLIMENT

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir:—The writer wishes to express his thanks to you, for your kindness in permitting him the use of your valuable columns.

The writer does not wish to monopolise these columns and trusts that some other adherents of Harding will take up where I left off. Getting the different views of people in the press, the writer believes, is a good thing for the community as well as for all the American citizens in China.

If in the course of time your reply to my letter is not answered, I trust you will again afford me the use of your valuable columns. An answer of this nature requires considerable time and preparation, and as the writer is engaged in business in Shanghai, his time along this line is somewhat limited.

I will say this much for THE CHINA PRESS, that it is very fair in the respect that it gives its subscribers and readers who happen to differ with the political views of its editor a chance to express themselves thru its valuable columns.

This is doing much more than the man whose principles THE CHINA PRESS is trying to uphold, has ever done.

Yours truly,
F. A. SINDERAND.

A Quip By Cox

In a recent speech Gov. Cox is quoted as having said: "When Pershing arrived in France and was taken to Lafayette's tomb he said: 'Lattyette, we are here!' Senator Harding is now saying: 'Lafayette, we are going away.'"

Gritty Girl

Jenkins and his best girl were motoring a considerable distance to see one of the last-round Cupties, and the margin of time was very short.

With about twelve miles to go, he bade defiance to all police traps and, turning to the girl on his heart, exclaimed: "We're going at fifty miles an hour. Are you brave, dear?"

The girl, as she swallowed a quantity of dust, replied with emotion: "Yes, dear; I'm full of grit!"—London Tit-Bits.

If the wet weather, which tried so much to spoil the game between Shanghai and Tientsin, dogs the steps of our players when they make the journey to Hongkong shortly, a set of new cricket rules will be required, and so I may as well get in first with the following suggestions:

Should any player be drowned during the game a substitute should be found, and should there be no survivors, by reason of flooded ground on the third day, match to be declared off.

The umpire to be provided with a steam launch and a supply of rockets. Each side to provide its own lifebelts.

If a bowler should swim or float to the crease in place of running the umpire to call "No Ball."

Should the water on the ground happen to be tidal, the captains shall decide by tossing who shall take the deep end.

The control of the side to be vested in the captain, who shall be provided with a flag lieutenant and a naval signaller.

A batsman to be declared out if the ball strikes his lifebelt. (Belt before wicket).

If the wicket shall become invisible under the water, the bowler shall send the ball immediately over the spot where it was last visible.

BE YOUR OWN DOCTOR

In these hard times if we can save the doctors bills why so much the better. Let me give you a prescription or two:

Rheumatism.—The sting of a bee is without doubt, the finest cure for this troublesome complaint. A visit to a bee-hive and a few audible remarks in the bee language about rotten quality of the honey contained therein, should easily procure required result.

Inertia and inability to move quickly. Same treatment as above.

Indigestion. Avoid eating anything that affects the digestion. Abstain from alcohol, but plenty of water, either in the form of certain milk, or 2.75 beer, should be taken after meals. The old adage that an apple a day keeps the doctor away is fairly true, but naturally depends on aim and force with which it is thrown.

Insomnia. The sufferer should be told to count imaginary sheep going through the gap in a hedge, and should be instructed to remember the exact number counted before falling asleep so that by starting at that number the following night much unnecessary counting will be avoided. Should this remedy prove unsuccessful the old cure of getting employment in a government department should be tried.

The Spectator

The Importance of Something to Eat

There are certain people who talk big and brave about not caring what they eat.

Some of these persons are sincere. They try to follow the wise man who said: "We cultivate philosophy upon a little oatmeal." One of the bromides in common use is the saying, "We all eat too much." The practice of the ascetics who subsisted on a few herbs and berries and water is popularly supposed to be the ideal thing for superior people, a sort of commendable but utterly unattainable goal, like entire sanctification. As a matter of fact it is sheer humbug. Then come the innumerable faddists; those who live on nuts alone, or on fruits, or on uncooked food, or on vegetables.

So it is time that somebody arose and said a few things in favor of old-fashioned food. It needs to be borne in upon the mind of a confused world that the best thing for a healthy man or woman when hungry is "somp'n to eat." By which I mean not so many proteids and so much nitrogenous substance and so much albuminous and so much acid, but I mean good old bread and cow butter, and sweet ham and crisp bacon, and juicy steak and potatoes, onions, eggs, cabbages and sparrowgrass.

The human race has just a little more sense than the consulting chemist and analyst of the breakfast food factory. Whatever humanity has gone on masticating and assimilating for a century or so is just about good for you.

Of course I am not speaking of diseased people. If you have a clear case of diabetes or rheumatism or fever you should take such diet as your physician prescribes. But for all normal folk, sound of limb, anxious for breakfast, and without sweeny, ringbone or spavin, the best remedy for what ails them three times a day is victuals and drink.

I doubt if any real good ever came of starving one's self. There may have been some high thinking produced from a menu of greens and spring water, and some piety, of a kind, nurtured by fasting, but one is much more apt to do sane and clear thinking on ham and eggs and to develop an agreeable type of holiness on beefsteak and gravy.

People ought to bestow more attention and intelligent discrimination on what they eat.

"Why is it," asks a modern novelist, "that when you take a woman to dine she always says she isn't hungry and that no man ever believes her?"

Nothing is more befitting a wise man and nothing is more becoming a gentleman and nothing is more charming in a lady than a rational appreciation of food. Indifference toward what one eats and drinks is either genuine or hypocritic. If genuine, it betokens a defect of which one ought to be ashamed.

If the indifference to gastronomic affairs is hypocritic, nothing, of course, is to be said for it. One is simply a sham and a fraud.

Americans of the ordinary, common class, not the overrich nor the poor, are the worst fed of any ordinary class of people in the world. In three-fourths of the homes of the United States the cooking is neglected and poor. And the trouble is that we put no brains in the kitchen.

Now, I candidly believe more domestic happiness has been wrecked by bad cooking than by good whiskey. God bless the wife and mother that knows how to make—and likes to make—good coffee and fluffy biscuit and glorious custard pie, and can broil a steak and turn an omelet, and keep the tablecloth white and clean, and always has cookies in the pantry for the boys when they get home from school, and prepares the most heavenly lemonade and cake for the girls when they have company, and gets out daddy's favorite pipe for him when he comes home bruised and worried from a hard day's tussle with the wild beasts of the street!

In these days of suffragettes and reformers and grand and lofty female doings it may be a little out of style to toast the poor, benighted little woman that is sticking to her job of making her man comfortable and her children happy; but God bless her, just the same!

A COUPLE OF PETS

A young dandy was walking down a street, when he was overtaken by a dog that began to snap at his heels. Its mistress made no effort to call it off, so he turned and gave the dog an admonitory kick. "Brute!" cried the woman, "to kick a little defenseless animal! That little creature is a pet, and is not accustomed to such treatment." "I beg your pardon, madam. I did not mean to hurt your dog. But you should have called it off." "It would not have hurt you; it is a pet." "I did not care to be bitten by it, nevertheless, madam. I am somewhat of a favorite at home myself."

Has The Earth A Heart Of Gold? Scientist Tells Why It's A Sure Bet It Has

By GARETTE P. SERVISS

"When the earth was formed through gravitation did it attract the heaviest metals to the center. If such was the case I have often thought that there must be a great supply of gold in the center of the earth. Am I right?—C. K. F."

I think it would be "betting on a sure thing" to wager that you are right. Whether the earth was formed by the cooling down and condensation of a nebulous mass, or by the falling together of dust particles, or fragmentary materials, the heavier substances would tend to collect in the central part and the lighter ones to form the outside.

We can tell what the average density is at any given depth. Taking the globe in its entirety from surface to center, we know, as the result of many accordant calculations based upon measures of the force of gravity, that the mean density is about 5.5 times the density of water. But if we restrict the calculation to the upper, or outer, ten miles of the crust it is found that the density does not exceed about 2.75 times that of water. This is not very much more than the density of aluminum or of quartz.

From this it is evident that the deeper parts of the earth must consist of something very much more dense than the average substances that we find on its surface. If the whole earth consisted for instance of the heavy rock called basalt its density would be only about two-thirds as great as it actually is.

IF IT CONSISTED OF IRON

On the other hand, if it consisted of solid iron, its density would be increased about 50 percent; and if it were all solid gold it would weigh nearly three-and-a-half times as much as it actually does.

But if we suppose the very heavy substances to be mostly confined to a central core, enveloped in thick layers of less dense substances, an ideal arrangement could be made which would account for the mean density that is shown by observation, combined with calculation. Now, iron, as far as our knowledge goes, is the most abundant, by far, of all the metals in the earth; and the fact that the globe is a magnet is itself an indication that the core probably consists largely of iron.

On the surface gold is present in almost negligible quantities as compared with iron or even with the other principal metals, but its relative abundance may increase in the deep central parts of the globe, somewhat in the ratio of its density.

There is only one metal heavier than gold—platinum—and that, as is well known, is far less abundant on the surface than gold itself. Silver is lighter than gold and is found in greater quantities. At great depths, it is conceivable, this proportion may be reversed. Iron is lighter than silver, but heavier than tin and zinc.

But it would be useless to base any theory of the relative abundance of the metals within our reach upon their comparative density, because it is evident that some of them, taking the earth as a whole, exist in much greater quantity than others.

If an equal quantity of each, however, had been allotted to the earth in the beginning, then it might be found that there was quite a regular relation between the amount of each metal within reach from the surface and its relative density, or weight.

We do not find any other planet in the solar system which is as dense as the earth. It was formerly thought that Mercury greatly exceeded our planet in mean density, but later studies indicate that it is hardly more, and perhaps less, dense than Venus, which, in turn, is considerably less dense than the earth. As far as this goes, we could assume that the earth is relatively the most generously endowed of all the planets with the yellow metal, whose strange influence has so mastered the minds and guided the lives of its inhabitants.

NO GOOD ON THE MOON

Professor Garner's rockets, if they ever reach the moon, are not likely to hit upon any veins of gold there, for the density of our satellite is almost 50 percent less than that of the earth.

This accords with the hypothesis that the moon was born from the earth by the detachment, through centrifugal force and tidal friction, of a mass of matter from the outer shell of the yet plastic globe, millions of ages ago. Such a mass would probably contain but little of the denser elements of its parent planet.

Another significant fact with regard to the probable lurking of gold deep in the earth is that what we do find of it is associated, or evidently has been associated, with eruptive rocks. However, this surface gold has had a long and adventurous history since it came up, if ever it did, from the depths.

Today By Arthur Brisbane

Charles W. Mills, a prosperous gentleman, offers $500 to the young woman possessing "the prettiest feet and ankles."

To begin with, human feet, with shoes and stockings off, are not pretty. The foot, originally made to grasp a limb and pick up objects from the ground, has not become beautiful, as it has gradually changed into a flat support to hold up the body. Feet are not pretty, ankles are not important.

Somebody ought to offer a prize for the young woman with the best shaped forehead, back head and skull generally. The most important measurement would be from the top of the ear to the top of the head. All brain is above the ear.

Other measurements—height and breadth of forehead, depth of the back head that balances the front head width of forehead and especially the line of the forehead straight up and down.

The straight forehead is the best, if it bulges out at the top so much the better. The change from the monkey and lowest savage has been a gradual straightening of the forehead from a flat to a perpendicular position.

Women's chief business is creating men true. But men are useless without brains, and they inherit their brains from their mothers. Therefore, a woman's brain is important. Women really should wear short hair, show the skull's shape and let a young man select intelligence.

In one month, in the biggest city in the country, plans are filed for one dwelling, one apartment house, five theaters, one hundred and fifteen garages and three loft structures. This doesn't look much like solving the "housing problem" except for automobiles.

Ponzi of Boston, "financial wizard," gives himself up and is arrested. The officials say he "owes" seven million dollars. He may prove a useful citizen, for he operated on a scale big enough to attract attention. Reading what happened to those that accepted his offer of forty-five percent interest every three months may save simple souls from oil stocks of the Ponzi variety.

Collectors of income tax say that we have twenty thousand millionaires. Allowing an average of five millions, which is moderate, you discover that twenty thousand people own one hundred billions, which is one hundred times one thousand million dollars, and you discover that this is quite a prosperous country.

Take the rest of the population; estimate the cash value of a human being at one thousand dollars, each, price of a good black slave before the war, and you have one hundred thousand millions more. This really IS a prosperous country.

It would be VERY prosperous, permanently safe, and a much happier land for all, including the twenty thousand that have the hundred billions, if the intelligence of the country could be used to produce and distribute enough for all, instead of being used to get too much for a few.

Why should the Government continue what all but savages have discarded? Go among savages, you find them expressing joy or grief, always with a loud noise. They beat tom-toms, beat their breasts, roar, create as much noise as possible, then feel better.

Whether they hail the rule of a new chief or bewail the burial of a dead one, it is the same thing—NOISE.

Civilised creatures have given that up largely, but not civilised Governments.

A President, a Secretary of War or Navy arrives, guns are fired off, making a noise and wasting money.

An able and useful man, Gorgas, Surgeon-General of the Army, is brought home dead, and big guns of the fort fire a salute, making a noise and wasting money.

It is not time for civilized Governments, so-called, as well as individuals, to learn some better method of expressing emotion than beating a tom-tom or firing off a gun?

Walter Squiers is the clerk, S. C. Davega the owner of a store that sells revolvers and cartridges. Both today know more than they did yesterday. To them came a colored man, mild of manner, who wanted to buy a revolver and be shown how to use it.

He had the money, he got the revolver and soon was "shown." Being shown he ordered everybody to hold up his hands and line up against the back wall. The hold-up was a failure because Harry C. Hackette, clerk, fired a shot that spoiled the plan.

That, as you see, was an educational enterprise. The colored man, name unknown, escaped. He learned that it does not pay to be wicked.

The store owner and clerk learn that dealing in revolvers and cartridges isn't the best kind of business. And the clerk, Hackette, who did not "line up" or hold up his hands, showed how easy it would be to discourage hold-up men and burglars if several would always refuse to be held up by one.

However, in a country where a hundred millions are held up by a few profiteers, the hold-up business will probably prosper for some time.

JOKE ON HAWAIAN DRY LAW AGENT

Paid Taxi Driver A Dollar To Carry Him To A Place Where He Could Get Booze

Honolulu, T. H., July 17.—Hawaiian taxi drivers may not be quite as sharp as the New York variety, but they can occasionally "put one over." One of Marshal Smiddy's sniff hounds had been having a bootless chase for the numerous purveyors of okelahao (Hawaiian for "booze"), who are elusive as rabbits, and he suddenly conceived the idea that if any one could lead him to it it would be a privateer taxi driver. So he approached one mysteriously and whispered; "Can you take me to where I can get some okelahao?" The chauffeur hesitated, stuttered, but finally admitted he could.

"How much will it cost?"

"One dollar."

"All right; drive me there."

"The dollar first."

So the sniff hound paid the dollar and climbed in, and the chauffeur drove him three blocks to a big office building. Then he said:

"Go up to the third floor on the right, and you can find plenty of okelahao."

"You fool! That is Marshal Smiddy's office."

"I know it is. He has lots of okelahao."

Which was quite true. Of course it was stuff already seized, but it was okelahao.
